Trip Description

Here's an unparalleled private safari to Quebec's wide open spaces in Nunavik. Wildlife photographers and animal lovers alike have an opportunity to take full advantage of the natural resources here in the Arctic tundra and its incomparable animal life! Nunavik will thrill those who would like to experience the absolute nature of the least travelled corners of Arctic Quebec. You will explore the Kuururjuaq National Park and immerse yourself in its spectacular scenery as well as his Labrador neighbour, the Torngat Mountains National Park. The region is a true...

...natural treat whose wilderness landscape is comparable to Norway and the upper Canadian Arctic. This real-life safari with floatplane travel, short exploratory hikes, and occasional camping along the hard-to-reach coasts of Ungava and Labrador is off the beaten track. In July and August, watch the famed annual migration of caribou herds when thousands of hoofs trample the Labrador Plateau. Wolves on the hunt during the calving season add an opportunity for a rare and poignant experience! Both polar and black bears are well present along the coastal Ungava region and you will stop to observe them in their natural habitat. This remarkably diverse itinerary takes you to the northern tip of Quebec and Labrador Peninsula, across the Arctic Cordillera and finally to the north Atlantic ocean. Throughout this trip to the wide open spaces of Quebec, you will be escorted by your pilot-guide and share in flight and on foot, the splendid countryside dominated by mountains, fjords and seas. The wildlife photographer Denis Jeanneret will be with us to provide easy-to-apply tips and advices that will make your photo report a success.

Your Itinerary

Day 1: Montreal - Kuujuaq - Rapid Lake Flight ► Upon arrival at Rapid Lake, the manager-owner will welcome you with a cocktail and overview of your upcoming itinerary. Afternoon trek to take in the subarctic tundra. Dinner at the Lodge and overnight in bivouac.

Days 2 and 3: East Coast of Ungava ► The morning starts with an air safari along the East coast of Ungava Bay, flying over wonderful rivers, waterfalls and icebergs. We will touch down at a variety of spots bordering the sea to watch the polar bears. At day's end, we'll ascend to the campsite at the edge of a magnificent lake right in the heart of the Torngat Mountains. During our morning excursion the following day, we'll explore an unfathomable lake known for its freshwater seals and partake in a picnic in the middle of the barren tundra. An air safari at the end of the afternoon provides an opportunity to fully admire the Nunavik sunset in all its finery. Overnight in bivouac.

Days 4 and 5: The Edge of the Continent ► After breakfast, we'll fly-out to Killineq at the continent land's end (the far north-eastern tip of North America). Killineq is in a wilderness area of great beauty, where wildlife is abundant. At day's end, we'll ascend to the campsite on the verge of a majestic fjord and taste some Labrador tea while watching the sunset. During our air and hiking safaris, we'll uncover the secrets of this wilderness area as we search out animal and bird species who make their homes here. Before noon the next day, we'll fly off to encounter one of the most imposing fjords in North America. We'll touch down to explore impressive waterfalls, rocky chimneys, glaciers and archaeological sites. Overnight in bivouac.

Rapid Lake Lodge is situated in Arctic Quebec in the heart of the sub-arctic tundra, 1,400 km from Montreal and 150 km southeast of Kuujuaq. Rapid Lake Lodge is charming and cosy, constructed completely by hand with round timber. All lodgings are equipped with modern conveniences and provide daily maid service. Departing from Rapid Lake, you'll fly out every day to experience the regional natural wonders and arctic wilderness.

You'll alternate between safari by floatplane and safari on foot to watch the wildlife of Nunavik against a variety of stunning backdrops.

6^e jour: Walk with the caribou. ➤ Spend one day on the tundra walking with thousands of caribou. The first sight of the long processions of caribou stretching several kilometers will leave you totally amazed, and a walking safari in this exceptional place is unforgettable. After a long winter, thousands of caribou return to give birth on the George River plateau. The area is well known to amateur and professional photographers in search of a subarctic wildlife photo safari. Dinner at the Lodge and overnight in bivouac.

Day 7: Return Trip. Breakfast at the Lodge.
